

Followup

I found out about the long public response Keeby made about me and Clash. Since then it's become more mainstream, and I've been getting kicked and blocked by friends as a result of it. However, Keeby has been deliberately hiding and concealing their intentions against me. They had aggressively manipulated me, which had forced me to engage in a relationship with them, and made further undocumented attempts to manipulate me after April 2023.

My name is Sheep. I, alongside others in the community, are victims of their behavior, and they are now taking my language (completely devoid of them stringing me along to that level) to again frame me as someone that I'm not.

My initial response goes further in detail to how they took advantage of me, but in this one I would like to give further context on exactly how I was left so vulnerable to have let myself do and say the things described and how precisely they were able to exploit it. I also want to bring more attention and new evidence to Keeby's extreme, creepy obsession with me.

I will be focusing on some aspects that were not detailed in my initial response:

- I struggle greatly with establishing my own boundaries in personal settings, as I have an extremely pervasive fawn response from complex PTSD (developed beforehand). I struggle to set boundaries on things even with my close friends, let alone with someone who frequently responded with suicide threats and anxious meltdowns.
 - This was not the cause of the relationship between me and Keeby: it was the degree that left me vulnerable to their exploits, and for giving my whole self away in a manner in which they had frequently requested and desired.
- The things that Keeby demonstrated as violations from my end were done by them initially. Their behavior set a precedent and cultivated an environment for me to respond similarly. This was a part of their manipulation, and why I was buttered up to say the things that I had said, which they would later reframe as sexual harassment.
- And after April 2023, they continued to stalk me out, demonstrating an extremely creepy obsession that is inconsistent with their narrative of being the victim.

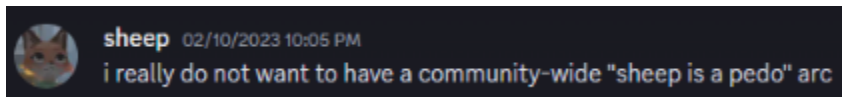

For a long time now, the stress and pressure of this situation has made me feel very uncomfortable in any and all Toontown spaces, and after their recent response I will be heading out for good – not because I feel responsible for the conflict, but because I need to step out from this community entirely if I ever want to re-learn how to trust people again.

I have real issues with understanding my own boundaries. Saying no to things has always been very challenging to impossible for me because of a lot of formational trauma I had while growing up. But, I was absolutely not acting as a predator or groomer towards Keeby. Everything that they are accusing me of doing comes from an environment of safety that they themselves had cultivated.

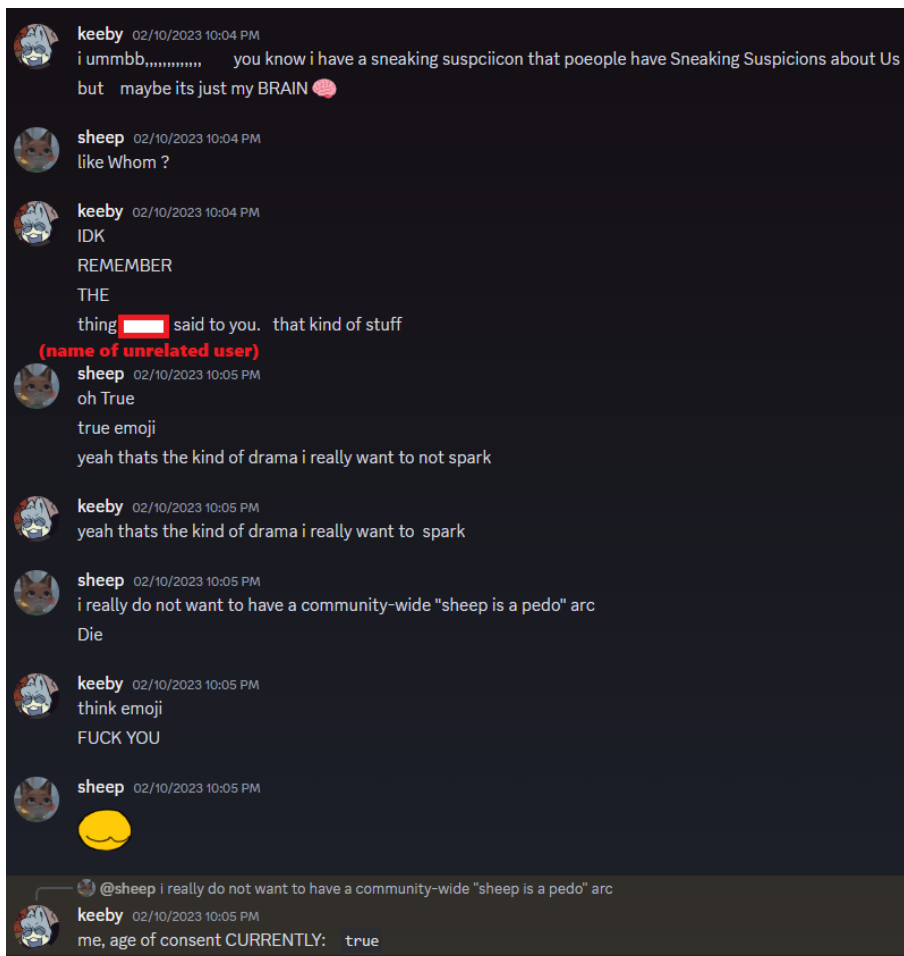

After April

After my initial response, Keeby released several documents covering our early DMs, which had been taking everything I said out of context and interpreting them in the most manipulative and false light possible. They have already proven themselves to do this consistently in any way imaginable, stretching reality to fit their narrative.

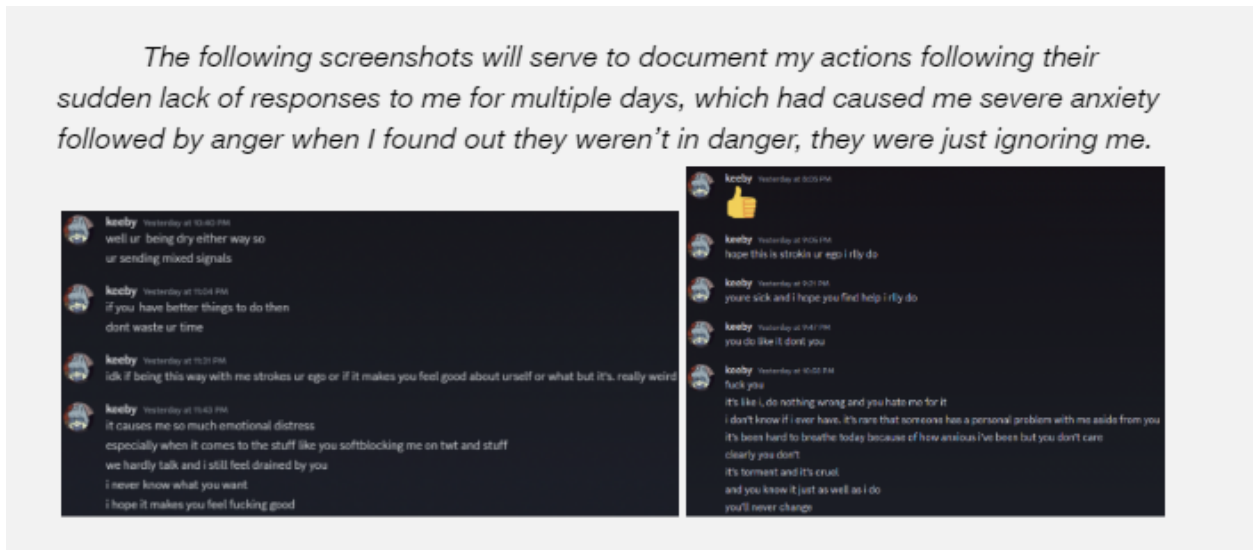

An example of this: before releasing my initial response, they had been sharing this screenshot out of context in various Discords.

This screenshot looks unequivocally bad out of context. But I did provide the full context of this situation in my initial response, where they were very openly engaging with this message in a positive light (while also making light threats about doing it):

And they have been doing it again with their recent document, where they cropped this (p33):

From this conversation of me attempting to demonstrate my boundaries, where they were disrespecting mine in an extremely direct way (the bottom of the second image lines up with the top-left of the above one):

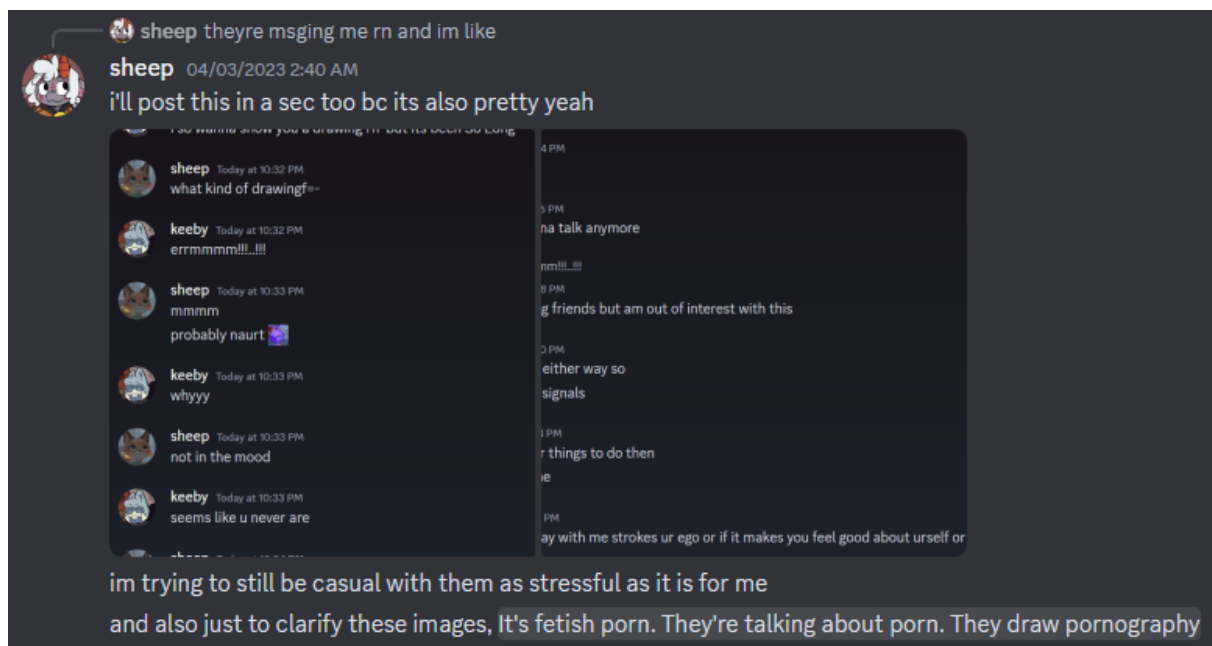

Keeby's timeline of events deserves to be brought into question as well, as it contains suspiciously extreme errors that are convenient to their narrative. Keeby went on to show screenshots from February 27th to "document [Keeby's] actions following [Sheep's] sudden lack of responses to [them] for multiple days" (p33), suggesting that the conversation from the previous page happened on February 26th:

Right: This was the following day (ignore the fact that they still read "yesterday," this is because I am taking screenshots from their document and that's just how they happened to appear). Why was I claiming I didn't do anything wrong? Because, at this

This was just about a month before they had completely cut me off. Tell me, if someone was telling you "why would I leave you over something that reflects 5% of you and that is still learning," or "you deserve better," would you just go on thinking that you were causing problems, or would you feel reassured? And would you expect that person to then, only about a month later, turn around and talk about how terrible

But the conversation and screenshots happened on April 2nd, more than a month later, and it was the LAST conversation we ever had. They made up the timeline. I was sending these conversations to my friends in the middle of a discussion on how to get Keeby out of my life. These are screenshots of the exact conversation that they had cropped the context from, which instead show a "Today" timestamp:

(This screenshot was taken recently by one of said friends (observe the avatar), whose timezone is 3 hours ahead of me; it was 11:40PM for me at the time of this screenshot, hence "today at 10:33PM".)

As further evidence, the screenshots they claimed were from February 26th use a Discord Nitro theme, which was not a Discord feature until around March 17th.

In other words, Keeby's evidence should not be taken and interpreted at face value. They excessively cherry-pick their evidence to match their narrative. The relationship was complex, being catalyzed by my lack of boundaries & their manipulation of me for their own interests, and it is very far away from the black-and-white "Sheep took advantage of me" that they're making it out to be.

So, after Keeby had been publicly defacing my DMs out of context in April, I began to delete all of them. I was not doing this in an act of self-preservation of the image of being a groomer, I was doing it to attempt to reduce their obsession with me after they started making biased public statements with them in April 2023. I regret having deleted the DMs now, since it has allowed them to continue to take even worse statements out of context with no hope for me to retaliate, but 1) they were already doing that even when the DMs and contexts existed with no sentiment or care for the reality of the situation, 2) my only other alternative to not deleting the DMs would have been to allow them to continue their defamation and engagement with their obsession of me, and 3) the rest of this document communicates the manipulative nature of Keeby far more than specific context ever could.

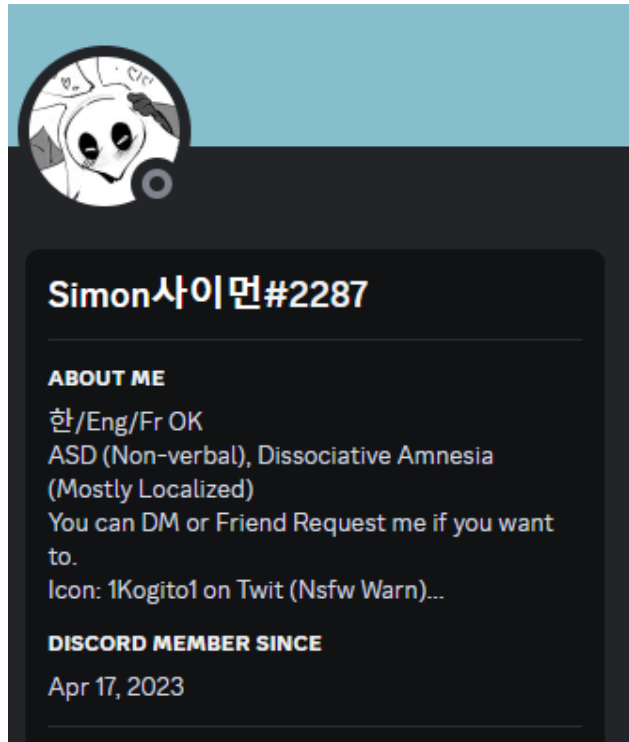

What about the DMs they have shown from me that appear as definitely, unequivocally bad for me to have said? It was a conjunction of two things:

1. Everything that we had talked about and done, they had demonstrated both prior interest and comfort with the material being brought up. They are obscuring this fact. Unfortunately, I no longer have the means to prove this in the cases they have shown, but this pattern is demonstrated again via Simon (see further below).
2. I was forced into a position where I had to demonstrate active care and interest with them. After I had been manipulated into engaging with their sexual kinks, attempts at disinterest from my end led to panic and anxiety attacks from them, involving many manipulative statements from them of "did I do something wrong" and "why do you hate me." As mentioned in my initial document (re-attached at the bottom of this one), at the end of our relationship, they said I was sick and needed mental help for refusing to participate in their fetish porn. This pattern trained me to bury my emotions and boundaries, forcing myself to go out of my own way to pacify them, to the extent that they are now describing as sexual harassment to conceal their initial dark intentions against me.

It was still bad for me to engage with them on that level, and I will go into more detail on that after the next sections.

Simon

Keeby has contacted me twice more since April 2023 in ways that question their narrative of being the victim. The first of these times was Simon.

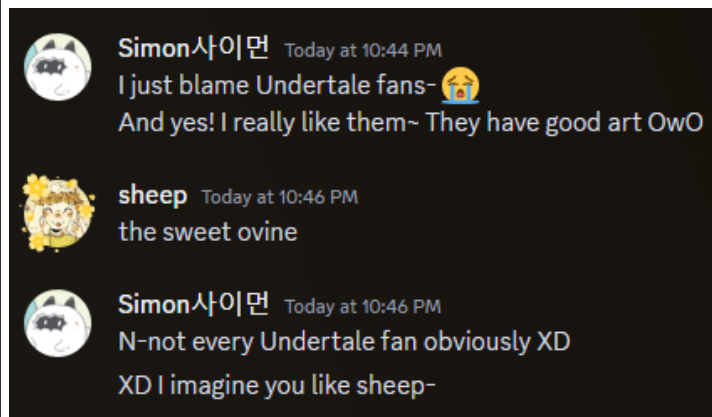

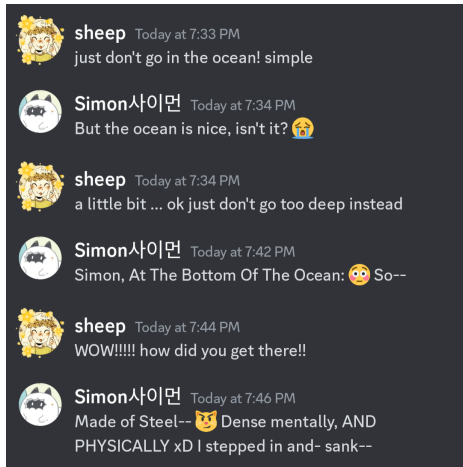

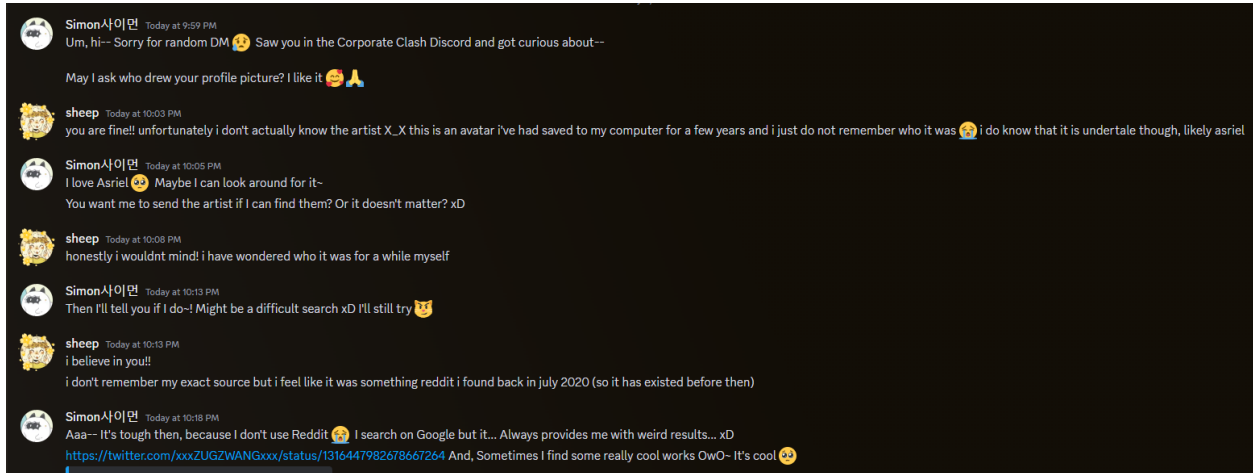

If you were active in the Clash discord in early May 2023, you may have remembered a new artist posting by the name of Simon. According to their mannerisms and bio, Simon:

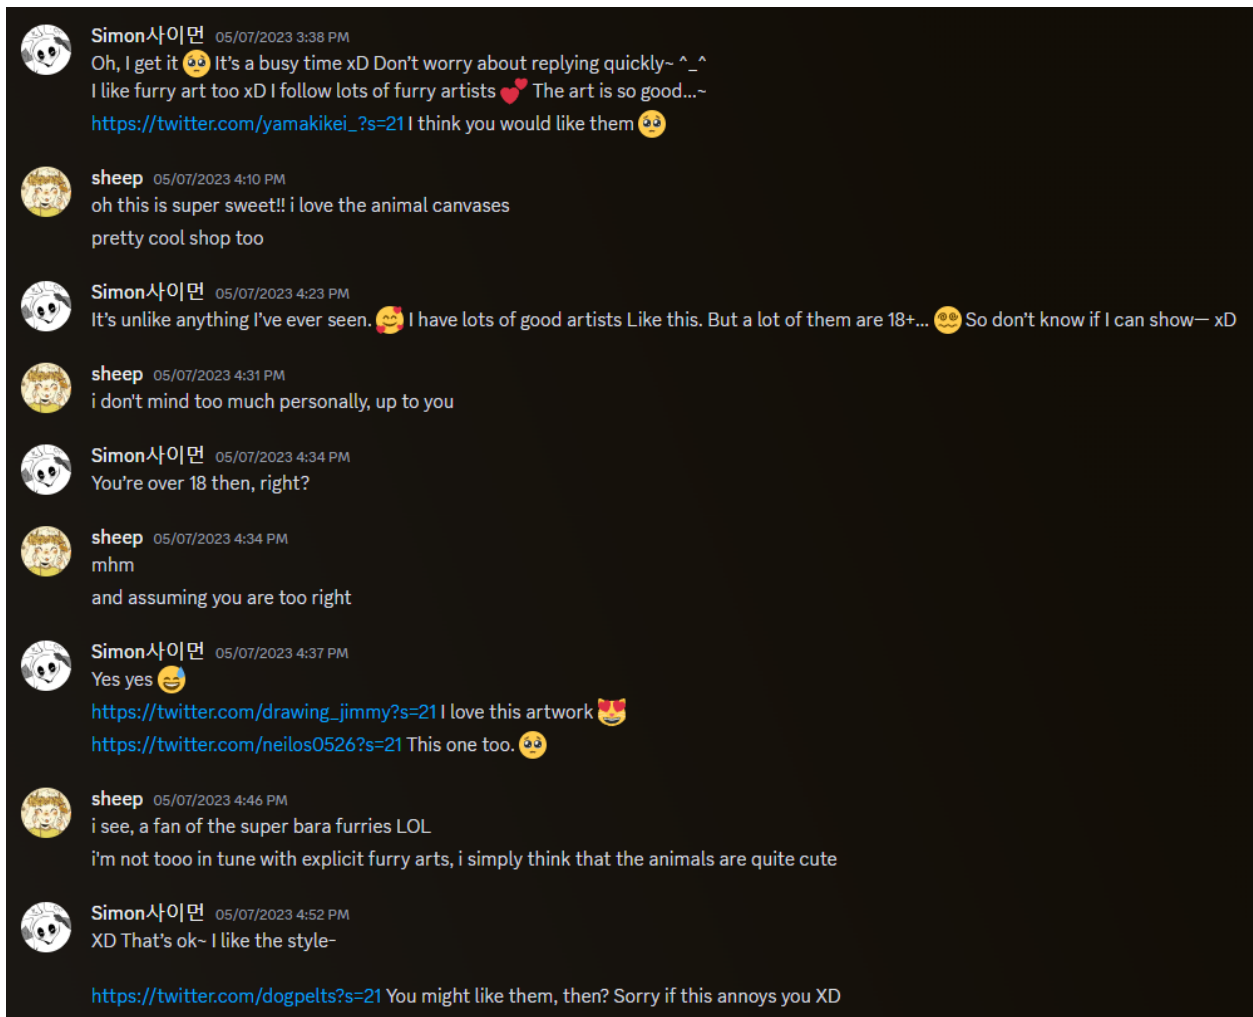

- Appeared to have a primarily Korean background
- Was new to the Clash community
- Had a distinct typing style, with unique english
- Had non-verbal autism, and could not speak
 - For context, at one point Keeby made a 20+ minute long video reading their accusations against me and posted it on a public Twitter account prior.
- Had specific interests and patterns that directly went against minute beliefs of Keeby
 - A scarily specific example: I released a song on my Youtube with me singing over it. Keeby had made it a specific point to be too nervous/anxious to listen or engage with it, while Simon claimed to have listened to it and enjoyed it.

None of these are true. Simon was an alt of Keeby that they used to manipulate me again, and they were doing so by lying about their identity, ethnicity, language, interests and disabilities. There is no doubt in this statement, as they later confessed to doing this towards me.

Below are some of their examples of initial messages to me. I responded and engaged in a friendly manner. I found their patterns and messages amusing, and they were funny and nice to talk to.

And then, out of nowhere, they wanted to send me porn. They were manipulating me again, and I was falling for it, again.

My response in the above image is another example of my extremely weakened boundaries at this time, as I am under the impression people with healthy boundaries and social awareness would have chosen to say no and back away instantly. And yet, because of my reluctance, my fear to say no, and that I had no time to recover (again, this was only a month after April), I kinda just assumed it would be OK to go along with it.

I was made extremely uncomfortable and off put by this approach. This single interaction has done more permanent damage to my boundaries and trust in other people than our entire dynamic up to this point. Imagine being contacted by someone completely new, with absolutely NO overlap in any traits of anyone you knew deeply, and they turn out to be your abuser trying the same tricks and tactics again and almost getting away with it. This is the extreme level of manipulation that Keeby is capable of. This cannot be written off as a trauma response – this could only have been done with a purely fixated intent to take advantage of me.

I have tried talking to new people online since April 2023 and I just couldn't do it anymore. I keep observing patterns in others that feel like Simon. I've had to ask people to reaffirm that they hadn't met me before, I've had to ask others how long they've known person X, I've been having to constantly go out of my way to confirm that the people I talk to aren't Keeby, even in entirely different communities than Toontown. I can't engage with people online anymore because of this horrible violation they did to me.

If you first met me personally within the last six months, I was absolutely having to verify that you weren't another Simon. I'm sorry for not telling you sooner.

I believe that certain elements of Simon's personality were primarily designed to help accomplish their goal of re-integrating into the community. After all, Simon did apply for the Clash Crew. If I had hurt them as badly as they now claim, why would they have tried to get back into the community again then, let alone now?

The Obsession

So far, I have brought to attention and demonstrated a lot of abusive patterns from Keeby. The next section is a new magnitude of bad, demonstrating a new, extremely creepy obsession with me.

On July 2nd, 2023, they attempted to apologize to me.

The below is a text transcription of their messages to me. For evidence, the exact screenshots of these conversations are shown later in the document. [Also, I've added comments from myself in highlight.] Again, the following messages come from the person who is now publicly accusing me of grooming them.

On Instagram, July 2nd 2023

Keeby: hi sheep. just a second of your time before you close out this dm, kindly. i've got a lot i want to send off to you 🍷 and at the very least i just want to be able to show you the aforementioned "lot" if that's okay

Keeby: nabbed from my notes

i need to preface this by saying sorry. for so many things.

namely for the last direct interaction we had. part of me just wanted some interaction with you again and was worried you'd never speak to me as... me... ? but that doesn't excuse what i did at all. the road to hell is paved with good intentions. [This is confirmation #1 that they were Simon. And why are they equating "strongly violating my boundaries again" as being "good intentions"?]

Keeby: in the past, i've been stubborn and self-righteous, even in the past few months, clearly. and while i'm finally ready to admit to those damning flaws, and hold myself accountable for my past behaviors and actions, nothing i say or do at this point can change the past (even if i wish so terribly that it could). for the past few months, since regrettably taking on an alias and having that crash and burn (rightfully so. i'm stupid) [Confirmation #2 that they were Simon], i've been doing nothing but working on myself. i've had a lot of time to reflect on myself since getting out of school and i think i'm finally taking the steps to become better, after all this time.

Keeby: i lacked humility, some part of me has this weird superiority complex that i'm sure arose as a trauma response and became the core of so many conflicts between us. rather than using this as an excuse as i may have in the past with you, i'm taking accountability and acknowledging the root of my behavior. and again, i'm just so fucking sorry that you had to be the one i hurt because of my own personal problems. i was immature. i didn't know what i was doing. and god, i'm sorry for it. i know that no amount of "sorry" is going to undo the heaps of damage i've done, but i can't help but apologize.

Keeby: i don't think i meant most, if any, of what i said about or to you in the time since we stopped talking. i think i took my "i'm scared and worried" out on you. and it's so fucking stupid that i did. i was spiteful, too. i'm not sure why, honestly (probably the aforementioned superiority complex). somehow i let my upset feelings morph into feelings of hatred, envy, jealousy, you name it. and i acted on my emotions instead of waiting for them to pass— something else i've been working on. it's a problem that, as you know, has plagued me for years. but i'm working. and even though we haven't been talking, you've been helping me more than you could ever know

Keeby: i've been journaling a lot since everything happened as a means to mitigate my anxiety. while it's been therapeutic, it's been influencing my subconscious (in short, i dream about you and talking to you a lot, given most of my journaling is all about this so it doesn't become too overwhelming). there's a phrase that keeps showing up in these dreams and in my general train of thought, something along the lines of "let's just talk about it" or "why don't we just talk about it" but as i write this and look back on it, it feels like such a stretch.

Keeby: i'll probably send off some parts of my journal to you, and i mention this in my journal so it may become a bit redundant. but alongside this, i also said that i believe that any conflict can be resolved by talking. i didn't believe this the last time we talked, but i've learned to handle general situations that present themselves as overwhelming to me in less "emotional-outbursty" ways. the last time we talked, we were stuck on two separate levels, two different planes. but i like to think we're more level now, and if you were open to it, i'd appreciate talking through things with you. i want to mend something that i once held so dear to me... and still hold just as dearly honestly [This is in direct conflict to their primary beliefs described in their public response.]

at this point i'm going to send off some journal stuff i think, lots of really raw 2am emotions so sorry if it's a bit much. but i think they're an important addition :)

Keeby: and again, i'm sorry.

and i hope you've been alright. and healing. i have a lot more i want to say, but i'll leave it at this for now. i don't want to make you read an essay lol.

Keeby sends multiple images of their journal detailing thoughts about me. [I did not save or even read these images, due to the intense discomfort I was feeling.]

Keeby: yeah the journal was also in my notes. sorry. i really like the notes app

Keeby: also i want to send this full image, i drew it today because i've been going kind of wild (clearly) (sorry)

Keeby sends the following art they made of our sonas, made sometime after April 2023:

[That is Sheep on the left. This is really, really uncomfortable and upsetting for me.]

Keeby: also if you would rather talk somewhere else, i'd be happy doing that. this isn't the most ideal place for me to be talking anyway (i forget to check my phone but i was too scared to message anywhere else... oops)

The next day, I responded with this and immediately blocked them:

Sheep: i have to make a few things clear about my perspective.

you have hurt me a fuckton in the past – the six panic attacks i had in january were caused by your actions and pressure on me – and then you made an active effort to ruin my life, even calling the cops on me. [This is true, they contacted my campus police and reported me at my university. Nothing came of it, but it was extremely distressing for me.]

if we were to interact again, we would be risking these abuses happening again, and we would be very likely to “re-live” the original contexts of our friendship, which is very dangerous to both of us (remember, you also physically suffered so much as well from your own anxiety). [In hindsight I'm unsure why I used the term friendship here. I think a part of me was trying to downplay the amount they had taken advantage of me. Plus, I did like being their friend, but I was very uncomfortable with how far they chose to push things for their own sake.]

this cannot be mended without major risks to both of our well-beings. for our sake, this is not a risk i am willing to take, ever. some things cannot be fixed.

PLEASE take some time to think this over, i want to believe that the keeby i knew can understand the danger here for both of us. it has to end, so we can both heal. this will be the last time you will hear from me directly, please don't contact me again.

But just before I had sent the above response to them on Instagram, a new account of theirs followed me on Twitter, showcasing even more disturbingly obsessive behavior:

The transcript of their tweets is listed below.

On Twitter, July 2nd 2023

Keeby: @muttonfox [my old twitter handle] i've been pondering. and creating and i'd like to show you it all more than anything i had no better means of contacting you so unfortunately i have to make another twitter post but i can do this so its basically private lolol

Keeby: [drive link #1] apology document. realized i never really said... sorry?

Keeby: id rly appreciate if you gave this all a look <3 i need to be more sincere. sorry i havent been

Keeby: [drive link #2] here's the folder of all the stuff i want to show you

Keeby: [drive link #3] a folder of my "journal"

Keeby: [drive link #4] art because i cant write

Keeby: [drive link #5] art because i cant write part 2

[I did not look into or investigate into any of these drive links, as I was so extremely uncomfortable by their context and I was already trying hard not to throw up.]

Keeby: you can use these anywhere if you want same with the one i told you to remove i was just emotional you can use that all my art that youve got, you can use it i dont mind at all. [I am very unclear on what they're talking about.]

Keeby: if you want to reach me my alt discord is heartsasleep. i tried messaging you instead of doing this but i wasnt able to.

id love to be able to talk things through. i think im ready, i just wonder if you are.

Keeby: if youre not, take your time. i'll be here ❤️

Keeby: i said i was going to wait much longer to do this but. i dont know. sometimes times just feel right. this is times

Keeby: also pls dont share these links :')) theyre personal to me Keeby: posting all of this made me wildly anxious id love to hear from you :"))

Keeby: youre the only person in my circle by the way. its like a glorified private account...?

Keeby: with the docs i wrote as i look back on them it's like... i genuinely don't think i meant what i said? i think that irl influences have been... well... influencing me... and i said so much shit that i didn't mean [They are discrediting their original response documents against me in an effort to get back with me.]

Keeby: the alias thing wasn't even my idea. am i really that much of a pushover 😞

Keeby: lots of my searches as of late have been like "what do i do if i really hurt somebody" and everything thats been returned is "seek forgiveness immediately" i kind of fucked up there. like i said i wish i could take so much back

Keeby attaches images of search queries demonstrating the above sentiment. [I did not get the images of what they were precisely.]

Keeby: it's crazy. i've never felt this way before

Keeby: i think i get very yearny (not a word but it'll do) when i have dreams and it makes me reminisce a lot. like late nights talking (stayed up later than i ever have before with you) and just hanging out and making art and listening to you talk. it's just. idk

Keeby: it's the stuff that shows up in my dreams too (which obviously makes it worse) and i want to get back to that. i'm wondering if it's possible... i like to think it is

Keeby: on the mend ❤️

Keeby: this is a dumb idea. it's probably still too soon. sorry 😞

Keeby: just being able to say hi again would b really cool

Keeby: ok no more sadposting i'm gonna go sleep. read the stuff i wrote and look at what i drew and think on it :) take your time

Keeby: i do really like this drawing. first thing i drew this morning after ... dreaming about us ... this happens a lot i just don't draw it very often Keeby attaches a picture of our sonas, the same one from our Instagram messages.

Keeby: i don't know how i was motivated to say anything about you that was even remotely negative you're perfect in every way and i was made to doubt that but i never will again [this is one of the worst things they've ever sent to me]

Keeby: ok now i sleep. lots on my mind still :) will probably manifest as dreams

Keeby: also i deactivated my other account. i was anxious and egged on to write another doc but i didn't feel very good about it. i'm going to change perms on all of my other docs as well. i don't want to treat you this way, i never did

This obsession, along with their ability to completely masquerade as people they aren't (like Simon), is why I'm so terrified to make any kind of public response. This is why I am strongly preferring to leave the community and leave my image destroyed. I don't want to engage with this situation anymore because I don't know how much longer they'll continue coming after me.

I genuinely would prefer to never publicly respond. I would FUCKING RATHER hundreds of people to think I'm a groomer, just so I could have a chance of letting them think they've "won," so that I could hope to be safe from their actions and obsession in the future.

But, since you're reading this, you know that I've changed my mind. Fuck my comfort and safety again, I'm not okay letting this happen to anyone else. I am extremely worried about the people who are close to Keeby right now. After my first public response, people who were still with them were taken advantage of, and some were made into new victims. If you are in that position right now, by engaging with them, you are in extreme danger of the same thing happening to you. This is why I am speaking up again.

There are others in the community that still know how dangerous Keeby is. If you are still unable to trust my word, then please, trust theirs.

Relationship

To give more context on the timeline of our relationship from my perspective.

I met Keeby in April 2022, and we started chatting and talking frequently as friends. Around June 2022, they were starting to demonstrate a strong attraction and interest in me, and I wasn't sure how to handle it. I didn't say no, as I lacked the ability to properly monitor my own feelings and comfort with it, and they wanted me to engage with some of their kinks.

I did not know that these kinks were sexual in nature, and I ended up engaging with them under the assumption that they weren't. At this point, I was trapped and couldn't back out. My options were to 1) try and GTFO from the current situation, but risking instantaneous blackmail that I absolutely would not have been able to defend from, or 2) try to play along with them and see about being able to calm the situation down and back away.

I tried going with option 2, but once they expressed suicidal ideation in August, I now couldn't say no to them without potentially risking or endangering their life. There were many occurrences between us where I tried to respond and say no to their gross requests in a way that they had found less-than-favorably, which would lead them to have anxiety attack spirals, which they would always blame on me. Even if I could say no at this point, they made it apparent that there would be consequences.

Again, they expressed attraction to me repeatedly and in a pushy way, which I was unsure how to manage. I was unable to say no, and it led to us entering an unstable, toxic relationship. I was not using them parading the "age of consent" to justify our relationship. I had to bring it up because Keeby had been using it to push the idea of dating onto me.

There were repeated incidents where Keeby expressed interest in a sexual topic. This led me to believe that the topic was okay to talk about with them, so I would often talk or respond in a similar way. Occasionally, Keeby would express pushback against it, and I would stop. These are now the exact instances that Keeby is reframing as sexual harassment in their response.

Everything on that document that they accused me of doing was established as being safe, OK and comfortable to do by them in advance. For example, framing the "masturbation in VC" incidents as extreme, when not only did they do it first, they did it *without warning or asking me - which made me believe that doing the same thing, while asking them in advance, was acceptable. They then went on to frame it such that they were never comfortable with me doing this, hiding the fact they were interested at one point and even agreed to be in the same call a few times, mostly around December. I strongly regret it now, but these incidents were not at all without precedent – even this extreme case was initially instigated by them.

My Apologies

I still want to make it known that I did make mistakes, but I want to make sure I clarify exactly where and how I had messed up.

- I demonstrated irresponsible boundaries with myself and my self-preservation, my trauma left myself vulnerable to an extremely vicious manipulator.
 - To reiterate, they brought up them being of the age of consent in their state themselves in regards to pushing the idea of dating onto me. I had no idea what state they lived in until later – how could that have come from me? I do genuinely understand the heat towards me for engaging with them on that level when they were 17. My personal boundaries were too weak, and I'm sorry for being weak.
- And, as visible in the DMs they provided, I did also end up demonstrating poor boundaries with Keeby.
 - While these cases were long after they had long shown interest and comfort in the actions and requests shown, I do still feel really bad for how my messages were phrased. I was led to believe that our space was trusted and comfortable from the way they talked about me, but it doesn't change that I had made them occasionally uncomfortable.
 - There are better ways to check someone's boundaries than starting a topic and stopping if it's too much, but I did stop. On the contrary, Keeby never expressed this level of etiquette or care towards me - when Keeby did something that made me uncomfortable, and I asked them to stop, it would be met with an anxious meltdown that would then be blamed on me. This also lent itself to the destruction of my personal boundaries.
 - Having to be accountable for someone else's feelings and emotions meant that it felt as though none of mine mattered. This is one of the most potent symptoms I deal with from my C-PTSD that Keeby can consistently exploit.
 - This does not apply to all DMs they shared. A lot of them were shared and interpreted in bad faith. For example, when they quote me saying "why would I leave you over something that reflects 5% of you and that is still learning," they carefully excluded the conversation before when they were anxiously berating me along the lines of, "are you going to leave me because I'm a bad person?" It is not an unusual thing to say to someone who suicide baits for validation, as evident by my initial document.

I think it's also worth noting (and not in a mean or demeaning way) that the both of us are neurodivergent. The social talent either of us would've required to have to defuse this situation early was not prescribed. Whenever they expressed discomfort with something, they ended up doing it indirectly or passive-aggressively, expecting me to pick up on it instead of communicating it directly. The uncommunicative cues that I missed, in conjunction with my disability to recognize when I needed to say no for my boundaries to avoid being used by them, led to this whole mess.

That is the truth of what happened with Keeby. And I need to make it extremely clear that:

- This is not a recurring pattern on myself, and I have never had this sort of relationship with anyone else, ever. I have been working with friends for the past few months to learn how to re-establish my boundaries.
- There were times where I seemed pushy because I did not understand Keeby's mixed messages. In hindsight, I should have been more sensitive about these things, but if I understood that Keeby was uncomfortable, I would not have continued, and I tried many many times to ask them about their boundaries.
- I am not a predator or a groomer. I had never approached Keeby with interests of getting on that kind of level with them. The situation does portray me having certain groomer red flags (such as deleting DMs), but I have rational explanations and contexts.
- I should have said no from the start.

I understand if my actions make you uncomfortable or if you want to distance yourself from me. I handled things irresponsibly, and the dynamic I had with Keeby should not have lasted as long as it did. Unfortunately, after a certain point, there was no way for me to get out of the relationship without it blowing up like this, so I continued to engage in this dynamic in order to placate Keeby and relate to them as a friend. Though Keeby's behavior towards me was manipulative and obsessive, I also made many mistakes along the way. It's important to me to clarify that these mistakes were due to social inadequacy and trauma, not from me being malicious and evil. Still, you are more than valid to dislike me for this.

The remaining evidence for this situation is unfortunately vague on both sides. Since I deleted my DMs, I'm unable to back up my case or contexts for why I said various things without me explaining and justifying them through my word alone. Keeby's document is also strongly based on proven misinterpretations of out-of-context DMs.

But, I'm trying to escape and get away from Keeby, because they've proven that they are extremely manipulative and dangerous. If you support Keeby, you support someone who parodied how foreign users speak online in an attempt to engage with more NSFW content with me, and later reducing it to 'an alias they regretted using' in spite of the severe trauma that it brought me. By supporting Keeby, you support someone who was both trying to defend their image in the community at the same time as they were obsessively and creepily stalking me out and apologizing to me directly. And by supporting Keeby, you have decided that it is fine that they could not even remember when and what our last Discord conversation was, even when they used it as a basis to 'describe things I did after.'

I'll be leaving and hiding away from the internet now, but will continue to keep contact with a lot of my peers and folks I've gotten to know over the past three years. I've loved working on Corporate Clash so much, and the folks I've met and the things I've been able to help contribute to have changed my life for the better. I was never attempting to be malicious, yet I do understand my shortcomings that led me to be taken advantage of.

Screenshots

Below is the full apology they sent to me on Twitter and Instagram in early July, three months ago. A text transcription is provided earlier in the document. I encourage people to back up these images (and the other images in this document) for future reference.

Instagram

<https://ibb.co/fnJxh1v>
<https://ibb.co/JzWsDM4>
<https://ibb.co/jzfQY3C>
<https://ibb.co/YptBPWx>
<https://ibb.co/gDPgs7t>
<https://ibb.co/kQq0zg4>
<https://ibb.co/VDNLKfj>
<https://ibb.co/PcHYBwV>
<https://ibb.co/Trc4jTR>

Twitter

<https://ibb.co/hBVg9mf>
<https://ibb.co/F8ZSYJh>
<https://ibb.co/dbSkXqG>
<https://ibb.co/y4C0wh2>
<https://ibb.co/FzLL6dv>
<https://ibb.co/qngwnrS>
<https://ibb.co/mSBzSH8>
<https://ibb.co/C01jx2s>
<https://ibb.co/3FQX7Q1>
<https://ibb.co/j5LDvny>
<https://ibb.co/283gJqp>
<https://ibb.co/XSf6ng8>

Introduction

Below is the initial response document I made April 2023. It is still very, very relevant, and updated with more permanent image links than Discord's. I strongly encourage the reader to review and archive the screenshots linked below.

Trigger warnings for abuse, suicide, fetishes, manipulation, controlling behavior, transphobia and more.

Hi everyone. My name is Sheep. Around April 5th, 2023 at 3 PM EST, I received notice of Keeby (keeby#1436) threatening to out me for major allegations of grooming. The set of allegations has pressured me into giving a public response to this situation for all uninformed parties. I will be referring to them as Keeby throughout the duration of this document, though in the last year they have also gone under the names of Mi, Marlowe, Mar, and Pyro.

After Keeby had joined the Corporate Clash Crew last year, I had added them and started talking to them in DMs (as I tend to do with new folks on the team, to get to know them better). Half a year later in August 2022, I was coerced into a toxic relationship with them, by confession to me that they were highly idealizing and considering committing suicide before they turned 18 (in March 2023).

As someone who is overly sympathetic, they had convinced me that if I wasn't there for them or not there to help them, then they would very likely not be alive today. As such, I was convinced to grow a closer bond with them. This opened the door for them to treat me abusively, manipulate me, and use me for selfishly indulging in their own fetishes with absolutely zero care or interest put into me.

There was absolutely nothing I could do about it – since they were a minor at the time, I felt as though coming forward about it would be permanently damaging to my reputation. So I kept quiet about it, trying to convince them to stay alive.

This situation has been horrible and extremely scary. It had been incredibly demotivating and draining for me on Clash, and has been a massive source of my anxiety as of late, because I can barely stand being in spaces around Keeby anymore (including my closest friend server). As of last night I am no longer a part of the Crew as well (for reasons mentioned at the bottom of this document), so please be aware that these words are coming from me only, not related to Clash. As I type this out now, I'm fucking trembling in anxiety. These allegations do not represent who I am or what I've done at all.

I was coerced into a relationship with a 17-year-old who pushed their fetishes into our conversations. I was made to feel that if I did not engage with these conversations, they would spiral, guilt trip, and gaslight me or worse, threaten suicide. There were no good choices that I could have made.

Synopsis

The relationship started when I was 20 and when they were 17. We started talking last April, over time they started to come onto me about some of their fetishes, and then in August they told me that they were considering killing themselves before turning 18.

- First, I need to strongly clarify that they were the ones who made initial movements and pressure towards me regarding any kind of post-platonic interest. Certain reasons they used to manipulate me from the start was them saying “i am At the age of consent” in their state.
 - <https://ibb.co/2M9DgRF>
 - Them saying that they are at the age of consent. August 2022, the same month before they first mentioned interest in suicide before turning 18.
 - <https://ibb.co/GvbqfP3>
 - Me being nervous about the context of our partnership. They continued to push the issue onto me despite my hesitation by citing age of consent. This was two months ago, a month prior to them turning 18.
- To my understanding, they are currently romantically interested in a 26-year-old community member.
 - They, 18, appear to be regularly chatting with someone 8 years older than them (26).
 - The moment that I told them that I was no longer interested in them as a partner, they expressed immediate, intense infatuation with this community member to me. More details about this below.
- Within our extremely-on-and-off partnership, despite the rockiness and abuse, we were genuinely close. As such, there are indeed rather NSFW convos in our DMs (ones that I could never, ever say ‘no’ to, because they made me feel that if I had shown disinterest in our relationship, they would attempt suicide – a pattern reflected throughout our conversation history).
 - However, nearly every single one of our NSFW conversations were all in relation to their kinks. I have never, ever been into any of their kinks (I will not mention them here). So if you receive evidence from them of any sexual grooming behavior, you will suspiciously find out that it all relates to their own interests and none of mine. Yes, I complied with it – because again, if I had said no, they would have had a massive anxiety episode and threatened & gaslit me non-stop. This was happening not even 6 hours prior to me cutting them off completely last night – screenshots below. A brief description of this particular event is described right here:
 - When they gaslit me three nights ago, they had told me that they had never done anything wrong to me, that they do nothing wrong and that I was torturing them. I continued to not reply, and they told me that I was sick and should get mental help (and much more). This was in response to me saying the implicit “I would like to remain friends, but I do not want to see your fetish porn.” This is indicative of their behavior at 18 – it was the exact same as when they were 17, too.

- <https://ibb.co/jT9x4hr>
 - This was about 2-3 nights ago: me denying interest in participating in their nsfw interests.
 - Claims of “mixed signals” from me even though they had expressed complete infatuation and interest with a different community member a week prior.
- <https://ibb.co/wKFMgXy>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/1Zv08cX>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/5xZDCHs>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/prjncqr>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/Bsr0wTW>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/t4j8vRd>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/Lv2Xtb0>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
- <https://ibb.co/0yKk7jR>
 - Follow-up from the previous screenshot when I didn’t respond.
 - “Today at 10:54 PM” -> I cut off contact with them 2 hours after this.
- Within 12 hours of this incident where they were begging for my attention & response, they would turn around and report this entire situation to their friend groups, claiming that I was “worse than I sound,” long before any claims of being a groomer, presumably doing this because they are being unbelievably manipulative and careful with their words.
- I am not denying that NSFW conversations happened between us, because they did. However I was roped into the partnership in a way where I couldn’t necessarily give 100% consent, and the times I did decline their advances were usually met with gaslighting.

Since August/September, I have been looking for a way out of this partnership without upsetting or distressing them as such to avoid an insane blowout from them, which I had thought I was safe to do by now, but apparently not.

Details of Abuse

Below are several detailed cases of abuse from Keeby towards me.

- Examples of them being manipulative and controlling of my personal identity are in the screenshots below. I do not know the extent of this manipulation, but I have been in incredible fear that it also includes them convincing me to transition for their own benefit in some way (i.e. in terms of their own romantic/sexual indulgence).
 - <https://ibb.co/MsGFN0v> Example of them being controlling of my personal identity, regarding my experience with plurality (something I am forced to come out about). From two months ago.
- In a recent convo (AKA within the last few weeks or so), in a conversation where it came up, they had told me that they were not interested in dick because they were, verbatim, an “ace lesbian.” As someone who was trans and (dubiously) their partner, this of course sounded straight-up transphobic towards me, so I had called them out on it. They replied in a way that said that they couldn’t be transphobic because they were trans themselves, and insinuated that I was crazy/stupid for even suggesting such a thing. They have never apologized for this.
 - This is the general case of abuse from them: they say or do something that is wrong or borderline, I attempt to call them out on it, and they instead shut down, become defensive, or worse break down and experience massive anxiety episodes (during which they have occasionally described me their self-harm, where they blamed it on me inciting their anxiety).
 - I have a screenshot of this conversation that has evidence of this, though it is moderately explicit and so I am only comfortable sharing it as per individual request.
- The night after I had become Creative Lead, they had the worst episode in our partnership, where they had told me that they had overdosed. I called my mom fervently and asked her what to do. The morning after, I talked with Clash Leads about what to do. I called their school district and informed them with chat screenshots that they were in severe risk of harming themselves, which the police had acted upon. (This was one of the last times that they had idealized suicide around me, though the topic did continue to come up minorly once or twice in reference to them approaching 18.)
 - If I were legitimately grooming them with no regard or care for their well-being, I fucking PROMISE YOU that I would not have gone out of my way to try to protect their safety in this manner.
 - Screenshots sent to the Student Safety department of their school district regarding this situation are attached further below in this document – separated with a large trigger warning.
- Within the last week, they asked me if I were still interested in being their partner, to which I responded that I was not. Immediately thereafter, they told me that they were now romantically interested with a 26-year-old community member.
 - One of my faults that I had been open about in this partnership is that I developed bad relationship trauma in high school, especially with regards to commitment. I also had felt betrayed by this turn of events, because Keeby had told me on three separate occasions in the past that they had no interest being with specifically this user.

- In response to Keeby's message, I described this trauma in astounding detail (as such to dissuade them from thinking that it was their fault or that they had done something wrong, lest risking some sort of anxiety episode), and told them that I really did not want to hear about their relationship. Their response to this: "aaaaahhh WHO DO I GUSH TO"
 - <https://ibb.co/55xwCHn>
 - Evidence of the above, from one week ago.
- They did not care about my active trauma that I was describing right in front of them. Again, they never apologized for this. They also continued to send me cropped screenshots of their DMs for a few days afterwards.
- To that community member: if you're reading, I hope you're aware that they have been following your NSFW accounts for quite a while. They felt the need to let me know. And if you aren't actually engaged in a romantic relationship, please feel free to ask Keeby why they thought it was OK to insinuate that to me about you two.
 - <https://ibb.co/z2rbZfq>
 - Evidence of them stalking out your NSFW accounts, a month before they turned 18. If you would like to reach out to me for confirmation, I can DM you this image without the censor that reveals your twitter handle.
- After I changed my banner recently, I credited the artist of it in my bio. Within a few hours, they asked me "why did you never credit me in your bio for my avatars." I respond, "I got you commissions when people asked me who drew my avatars." Then they replied with, "I was just kidding."
 - In general, they have always been hyper-paranoid of my actions like this. There are hundreds of events like this.
- I believe that it is worth mentioning that, as a former Lead, it was extremely difficult for me to extend disciplinary leadership discussions to them due to their anxiety episodes. I do not have the relevant pictures for this case, but these episodes often nullified my power as a lead and made it impossible to talk to them for anything disciplinary.
- After the dismissal, I blocked them on all platforms. Though they still thought it was quite nice to reach out to me on one that I had forgotten about.
 - <https://ibb.co/nM5qRQT>
 - This happened at 2:14 PM today, April 5th, approximately 45 minutes before they would cast me as a groomer, and after they had began claiming that they had been banned for no reason.

Screenshots of Abuse

These screenshots are miscellaneous that are not listed above.

- Anger towards me for not responding to their messages in a timely manner.
 - <https://ibb.co/zZj9Gd4>
 - There are hundreds of cases like this. This screenshot is from March 31st, so less than a week ago.
- Lack of care for me when expressing my trauma about their latest engagement
 - <https://ibb.co/MCBb4BL>
 - “SIGH OK” “so hard for me to hear that from you but fair. fair. fa”
 - From March 28th, so around a week ago.
- I don't even know what this was about, but them getting angry at me for me just being myself happened so many times
 - <https://ibb.co/prgkDn3>
 - <https://ibb.co/8rN0Ncd>
 - My internal monologue: “Did I say something wrong???”
- Incident of suicidal episode & mentions of self harm in late January (major trigger warning for these images)
 - <https://ibb.co/zR0sjLy>
 - <https://ibb.co/GxCxrNZ>
 - <https://ibb.co/LPnxgWv>
 - <https://ibb.co/QfQCbNE>
 - <https://ibb.co/Lgzpd7N>
 - The morning after: <https://ibb.co/wphH4dk>
 - ... telling me that the entire terrifying event that just happened to me was simple episodes that never mean a thing...
 - <https://ibb.co/8rBDkC2>
 - The screenshot report emailed to their school district.
 - This was one of the scariest, most traumatic experiences of my life. I was so fucking worried that this person was in danger of killing themselves. I really, really hope you guys understand.

Conclusion

This is one of the scariest situations I have ever been in.

From the beginning, I never had a choice. Our bond had never developed into anything NSFW until after they had told me that they were at risk of killing themselves before turning 18. This happened in August of 2022, with their birthday happening March 2023. Of course I was manipulated into wanting to become closer with them – they told me I was the only friend that I had and that if I had said no, I would have instead been seen as “a member of Leadership who let someone on the team kill themselves without action,” with the alternative apparently being this!! I’m not dumb enough to have pursued something with them without knowing the consequences – I just wanted for them to stay alive. Reader, what would you have done here?

As of Keeby’s termination, I am no longer a part of the Clash Crew (while also informing Leadership of this entire situation) due to my extreme fear and anxiety that this would happen. In addition, I figured that, if they were interested in having it out for me, I could only respond to them with my case here if I were not on the team, so I wanted to step down so I could have a chance to reply if need be.

I’m really sorry, everyone. I didn’t want to be a part of this.